AD-SELL LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON

Frank Stockdale and J. B. Dignam Will Speak Friday Night.

The 1919-1920 season of the Ad-Sell league will be formally opened at the Oliver hotel Friday night with a program of addresses of unusual interest. The principal speakers will be Frank Stockdale, the clever little Associated Advertising club lecturer, and J. B. Dignam, a widely known Chicago advertising man. Both men have well established reputations as entertaining and instructive public speakers. The toastmaster of the evening will be F. L. Sims, former principal of South Bend high school.

For a number of years Mr. Stockdale has been delivering lectures on advertising and other business subjects in the interests of the Associated Advertising clubs of the World. He is regarded as one of the best informed men on advertising in the country today. At the national convention of advertising men in Philadelphia a few months ago, Mr. Stockdale walked away with all honors for advertising talks. His speech on "The Future of Advertising" was the "Lucky Art of Making a Profit."

The other speaker has been engaged in agency work in Chicago for a number of years. His remarks will have to do with the necessity of a man showing pure, unvarnished nerve to make any sort of success in the advertising business. Mr. Dignam has spoken frequently to advertising clubs in Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., Detroit, Mich., Grand Rapids, Des Moines, Ia., and other cities, and has never failed to make a very favorable impression.

The Friday night meeting is expected to be the start of the greatest year the Ad-Sell league has ever enjoyed. Numerous plans have been devised for enlarging and strengthening the organization in a dozen different ways. A membership campaign will be launched at once with a view of doubling the size of the club. Much interest is being taken in cities surrounding South Bend, and the outside membership will likely equal that in South Bend and Mishawaka before the season is closed.

NO RESTRICTIONS AS MARRIAGE PLACED

Mrs. Bessie Hawkins Objects to Story in Connection With Her Divorce.

Mrs. Bessie Hawkins, who was given a divorce from Ray Hawkins by Judge George Ford in superior court Saturday morning, is to be married again soon. She said on Monday in objecting to an announcement that she had been ordered not to marry again for two years.

She was granted an unconditional divorce, her former husband having received a summons to appear in court, but there was no contest to the divorce. Under this decree she can be married any time and she is going to do so.

In her testimony against her husband she charged that he was a dope fiend and that he had been sent to prison. She said on the stand that he had failed to provide for her even before he had been sent to prison.

EXHIBIT IS CALLED OFF

Associated Charities Will Make No Display at Centennial.

An exhibit planned by the Associated Charities for the Indiana centennial celebration on Oct. 3, 4 and 5, has been called off, according to Miss Scott, the local secretary. Improvements on S. Michigan st. compelled the move as the exhibit was to be held in the human building.

A number of interesting cases have been handled during the past seven days by the associated charities. However, work along this line will be delayed during the coming week, as the organization will move its office from the Jefferson building to the second floor of the Dean building.

WILL LET BID TONIGHT

New Sample St. School May Cost More Than $100,000.

The general building contract for the new school on W. Sample st. may be awarded at tonight's meeting of the school board. Although the estimate made by the board when it was decided to put up the new building was about $100,000, it is probable that the cost of the structure will exceed this amount. For the lowest bid received at a special meeting last Thursday night was $125,152. Five bids are being considered by the board. The teachers' salary schedule which will give an increase in pay to instructors throughout the school system probably will be adopted tonight.

SPEEDER IS DISCHARGED

Case Against John Hoffman is Finally Settled in Court.

Finally the case against John Hoffman, charged with exceeding the speed limit, and brought up twice before Special Judge Hammond, in the city court, was dismissed Monday morning.

Judge Hammond heard part of the evidence in the case, but owing to the fact that all of the witnesses could not be secured for the hearing, postponed the case for a week. When the case came up again, Atty. Lenn Oare for the defense, refused to continue the trial unless a change of venue be granted and Mr. Hammond appointed to finish the hearing that he had started.

Judge Warner complied with the request, but owing to the fact that the prosecuting attorney could not be secured, the hearing could not be held. Irritated by what he termed "an abuse of constitutional rights," Mr. Oare advised his client to return home and forget the matter. The case was set for Sept. 23, and again postponed until Monday, when it was dismissed.

STUDENTS TO DO WORK

Interlude Will be Product of Those Attending High School.

A special assembly was held Monday morning at the high school, at which announcements were made concerning the contests to be carried on for the Interlude this year. Thomas Ngo is Accused of Operating a Blind Tiger.

The hearing of the charges against Thomas Ngo, who has been running a blind tiger, according to reports from neighbors of 2625 S. Lafayette st., where he keeps a grocery store, will be held Oct. 3.

Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock Detectives Lane and Paillo and Patrolman Czenkush, entered the store and it is alleged, found in the back room a number of men drinking. Those who were in the place at the time of the raid will appear as witnesses when the case comes to trial. One application for service in the navy was rejected at the naval recruiting station in the federal building Saturday. The applicant was physically fit in all respects, except for one serious draw-back—he was knock-kneed.

RELICS WILL BE PART OF DISPLAY

Interesting Exhibit to be Made by Northern Indiana Historical Society.

By Helena Clendenen.

It is such a common thing for visitors to a place to find out more about the interesting possessions of the visited town than do the inhabitants themselves, that I am going to suggest to every South Bender and Mishawakan to be found informed about their home town places and objects of interest.

Specially am I going to bring before South Benders the remainder of the collection of the Northern Indiana Historical society. Even though you may have visited it many times, go again and now before the arrival of our centennial visitors, for I have learned from George A. Baker, secretary of the society, that he has made an entire rearrangement of relics for the centennial exhibit.

W. Show Relics.

"Owing to our limited case room," he explains, "it has been necessary for us to retire some of our museum specimens for this special exhibit. However, we will show our most important collections, such as our Fort St. Joseph collection; stone and copper implements from Indiana; collection of old-time textiles; pioneer household relics; collection of old china and glassware; revolutionary and Civil war relics."

"In fact, we will put on for centennial week what will be a revelation to students and to many others, concerning the great amount of material which we have gathered for the study of Indiana history."

"Could you give me a list of the items of this special exhibit?" "I could, and will," Baker assured me. "I give you herewith the token that the promise was fulfilled."

List of Articles.

Portraits of the early explorers, Marquette, LaSalle and Charlevoix, with medallions of LaSalle.

Early maps: Joliet, 1674; Franquelin, 1684; Charlevoix, 1721.

Collection of maps showing the development of the cartography of the northwest territory dating from 1790.

Also collection of Indiana maps together with original plats of South Bend and Mishawaka.

Birdseye views of South Bend 1858 and 1874, with photographs of buildings and of pioneer settlers.

Day books and ledgers of William Burnett, the permanent trader on the St. Joseph river, dating from 1790.

Also collection of books and documents showing the trading adventures of such early settlers as Joseph Bertrand, Pierre Navarre, Alexis Coquillard and Lathrop N. Taylor, together with hundreds of papers and documents relating to early Indiana and South Bend history.

The society's large collection of Indiana state publications, and Indiana newspapers.

Collection of Pottawatomie Indian portraits, including that of Leopold Pokagon, the treaty signer.

Collection of articles made by pioneer Indiana manufacturers.

The society's collection of cotton relics, which includes many books, papers and speeches, and personal relics of the former vice president.

The society's collection of books relating to Indiana, and publications bearing Indiana imprints.

Do you think that anywhere in the state there is a more interesting sight-seeing place than the home of these possessions?

MINISTER HEAR PAPER

Rev. Daniel A. Kaley of Mishawaka Elected Secretary.

"The United States and its Responsibility to Cuba and Other Small Republics" was the title of a paper read before the weekly meeting of the Ministerial association of South Bend and Mishawaka at the F. M. C. A. by the Rev. M. H. Appleby. A general discussion followed the reading of the paper.

Rev. Daniel A. Kaley of Mizpah Evangelical church, was elected secretary and treasurer of the association to succeed Rev. A. E. Thomas, who was forced to resign because of outside responsibilities. A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions of appreciation for the services rendered by the Rev. T. J. Parsons of Quincy St. Baptist church who will leave his pastorate to engage in field work throughout the state of Indiana. The committee consisted of Rev. Frank K. Dougherty of Grace M. E. Rev. M. H. Appleby and Rev. H. H. Hostetter of Westminster Presbyterian church.

BAD BLUNDER MADE IN STORY OF PITTMAN CASE

Erroneous Substitution of "Boeck" For "Baker" Calls For Explanation and Apology.

Due to a blunder in the taking or in publishing names in reporting the case of Elmer Pittman, before the city court Saturday, that of "Mrs. Boeck" was used in the stead of "Mrs. Baker," and a grave injustice done Mrs. E. M. Boeck, whose husband, superintendent of the Malleable Range Co., is mentioned in connection with the affair. The story as told was that Charles Ranz, watchman at the range plant, had caused the arrest of Pittman for beating him up after he (Ranz) had told Supt. Boeck "that Pittman and Mrs. Boeck had held nightly meetings on or near the company's property."

Instead of its being Mrs. Boeck of whom Ranz complained, it was a Mrs. Baker, wife of a Division st. saloon keeper, to whom the statement referred. It also said to have been made to Mrs. Baker's husband by Ranz, who enraged, brought Pittman and his wife before Ranz, to face him in his charges. It was then that the fight was precipitated that led to Pittman's arrest, both Pittman and Mrs. Baker denying the accusation.

The reporter got the names Boeck and Baker mixed, and to the discredit and injustice of the former, Mrs. Boeck is a woman of fine character and excellent reputation, highly deserving of this explanation and apology.

BREAD PRICE THE SAME

Bread prices in South Bend were not advanced Monday, although an advance was agreed on Saturday by 600 bakers in Chicago. However it is more than likely that an advance will take place in the near future.

Recently all plans for an advance in the price had been made but one of the Chicago firms which sends a large supply of bread to this city refused to come in on the deal and as a result the proposed advance was not made. This Chicago firm was among those that agreed to advance the price Saturday so the chances are that a boost in the price may result here.
